

Sydney Gateway

Aboriginal Participation in Construction (APIC)

August 2022

Target requirement: 1.5% of the total contract value of a project to go to supporting Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander participation.

Local Western-Sydney based company Southern Cross Pacific (SCP) is one of the growing numbers of Indigenous companies from across Greater Sydney working on Sydney Gateway.

Under the experienced leadership of Director, Paul Newman, SCP secured a contract with Sydney Gateway last year to provide security, cleaning and traffic management services at our construction sites in St Peters, Tempe and Mascot.

SCP continues to strengthen its partnership with the project, after recently securing a contract for professional commercial cleaning of the Sydney Gateway office in Mascot.

About Southern Cross Pacific

This Indigenous owned and operated company is passionate about providing career opportunities and encouraging the economic development, not only of Aboriginal and Torres Strait islander people, but for all Australians.

Their commitment to employment support is reflected in their combined mentoring program that starts with university scholarships including for Aboriginal students, sourcing post-graduation employment opportunities and maintaining connectivity with on-the-job mentoring.

Check out their success story and how they are helping others on their website.

Director, Paul Newman, Southern Cross Pacific.

Paul Newman (back right) briefing his team on their work areas in Sydney Gateway.

For enquiries or complaints:

nswroads.work/SydneyGateway

1800 654 446 (24/7)

SydneyGateway@jhsw.com.au

Translating and interpreting service

If you need help understanding this information, please contact the Translating and Interpreting Service on 131 450 and ask them to call us on 1800 654 446.